Abstract

This study aimed to know the prevalent non-class activities during school days of BSCA students. To answer the objectives of the study, the descriptive research design was used. The 167 BSCA students of JBLFMU-Molo for Academic Year 2010-2011 were made to answer the researcher-made questionnaire. The statistical tools used were frequency count, percentage and rank. The results of the study showed that the most prevalent non-class our activities of BSCA students at JBLFMU-Molo were: "internet surfing", "texting", "studying lessons", watching T.V", and "listening to the radio".
