Abstract

This study aimed to determine the preferred on-the-job training sites and reasons of Bachelor of Science Cruise Ship Management students. The respondents of the study were the 62 randomly selected third-year BS Cruise Ship Management students of John B. Lacson Foundation Maritime University-Molo, Inc. A validated researcher-made questionnaire was used to gather the data needed for this study. The data gathered were subjected to descriptive statistics such as frequency and rank. The study revealed that based on type of sites, the preferred working sites of BS Cruise Ship Management students were the hotel, bar, passenger ship, resort and restaurant. The top three preferred on-the-job training sites of BS Cruise Ship Management students of John B. Lacson Foundation Maritime University-Molo, Inc. when taken as whole was the hotel because they want to enhance their communication skills and personality when dealing with the guests. Second is the bar because they want to learn more in making different cocktails using imported liquors/liqueurs. Lastly they chose passenger ship for the reason that they want to travel the world for free.
